IS FOUND BY ROADSIDE HELPLESS AND NECK DISLOCATED

Oldest Voter in the County at Death's Door at Home of Daughter.

Supposition Is He Fell From Wagon When Wheel Ran Into Chuckhole.

John P. Pennington, aged 78 years, was found by the roadside, his neck dislocated, his head broken and his body bruised. He was found by a passing motorist, who stopped and called for help. The body was found in a ditch, and the cause of the accident was supposed to be a fall from a wagon when the wheel ran into a chuckhole.

The deceased was a native of the state of New York, and had lived in Fresno for many years. He was a well-known and respected citizen, and was the oldest voter in the county. He was found at his home, at the death's door, and was supposed to have fallen from a wagon when the wheel ran into a chuckhole.

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

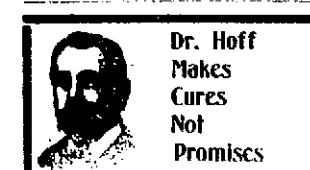

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first day I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 227 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has helped thousands to health, free of charge.

CANDIDATE BELL WILL SPEAK AT THE FAIR TOMORROW

Will Also Make Brief Talk in the Park Before the Lunch Hour.

Congressional Opponents
Due on Friday; Coalinga Opens Campaign.

Another week of political activity is at hand and the meetings during the next few days promise to make the week the liveliest so far in this campaign. The first big event of the week, especially in Democratic circles, will be the visit of Theodore A. Bell.

Bell will arrive at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be met at the depot by a large delegation of Bourbons. Another delegation of Bourbon leaders will journey to Selma and meet him at that place to accompany him to this city.

After a short parade, Bell will be taken to the band stand in the courthouse park where he will deliver a brief address before lunch. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the big labor parade will start and Bell will be one of the prominent figures in that parade. After marching through the business section, all will go to the county fair grounds where Bell will deliver a more extended address later in the afternoon.

The Democratic candidates for governor will not remain long in Selma. They are scheduled to leave at 4 o'clock. He is scheduled to speak at Reedley and he will also speak at Parker and Spencer en route by automobile to Visalia where he will deliver an address on Tuesday evening.

The following day, Bell will work a number of small towns surrounding Fresno and will end the day with an address in the evening at Madera. From Madera he will work north and visit the remainder of the state.

BRIEF SPEECHES TO BE RULE AT METHODIST CONFERENCE

Effort Will Be Made to Close Business of Sessions
This Afternoon.

Bishop Hughes Preaches to Large Audience on the Growth of Church.

Short speeches will be the rule today in the closing sessions of the Southern California conference of the Methodist church. Originally no Monday afternoon session was planned, but conference business was so far advanced that it was deemed necessary to hold a session today. The conference will meet at 8 o'clock.

Yesterday morning, as in the evening, the Methodist church was jammed to the doors. Bishop Hughes of San Francisco delivered the conference sermon, after a communion service was held. Bishop Hughes preached an eloquent sermon on the theme, "He Could Not Be Hid."

Christ was of such origin, said Bishop Hughes, that the natural inference of mankind at that time would have been that he never would be known. Every circumstance was in favor of hiding him, and he never sought publicity. He was born of obscure parents, in a small town. He was reared in Nazareth, which was a by-word, in the saying, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" The circumstances of his birth, in a manner on a hill side, were obscure. In his infancy he was taken to Egypt, to escape the slaughter of the children by Herod. But the vast desert, exemplified in the silent Sphinx, was not sufficient to hide him.

In his life he never sought fame, but achieved fame. He was put to death in an ignominious way, but his disciples, and his death inspired the words, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." His power was shown in the conversion of one of the thieves on the cross beside him. Later he was hidden in a tomb guarded by Roman soldiers, but he burst the tomb, and the efforts of the government to nullify his teachings and hide him were of no avail. Later on the orthodox church tried to hide the effects of his work by killing his disciples, but always the efforts were unsuccessful, until all the world must come to Christ.

Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. Luther T. Guild, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist church at San Diego, delivered the conference missionary sermon in a well filled church. This was followed at 4 o'clock by the conference ordination service, conducted by Bishop Hughes. The elders ordained were: Charles E. Seymour, of Holtville, Imperial Valley; A. B. E. Brown, of Fullerton, Orange; Stephen, of 111 Monte E. Guy, of Tulare; and Alfred L. Bent, who recently graduated from the seminary at San Francisco.

The deacons ordained were: Fred Smith, of Los Angeles; Walter C. Buckner, of Waukena and Corcoran; John L. Collins, of Mountain View; and Royal A. Weaver, of the Spanish mission.

The deaconesses ordained were: The Misses Mary E. Reed, Georgiana Walker, Stella Arvine and Mattie Duncan.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Young Men's Christian Association, Rev. Matt Hughes, pastor of the Pasadena Methodist church and one of the most prominent orators of the church on the coast, addressed a large audience. He spoke on the fundamental truths of Christianity, using as his theme, "Backgrounds and Foundations."

In the evening Dr. Isaac T. Headland of Fresno, California, gave the closing address of the conference at the First Methodist church.

Today the conference will be called to order at 8 o'clock, and Bishop Hughes will occupy the chair at 8:30 sharp, in the final whittling of the conference business. A request was made last night that all speakers use little time in presenting their views.

A county committee will open the county fairgrounds at corner next Saturday at Coalinga where addresses will be made by leaders of the party in this county and by several of the candidates.

Other county meetings will follow in rapid succession during the following week and from then until November 2, the committee and the candidates expect to put in many strenuous hours.

The Democrats are planning to have precinct meetings this week but probably will not begin them before Friday. Chairman Houston announced on Saturday that the committee did not plan to hold any precinct meetings before Friday. The meetings will in all probability be held in precincts adjacent to the city.

FAIR WEEK
This is fair week, and everybody should turn out. The fair is the place to get together, to see things and to see people. It is the place to realize the resources and the productions of this county, and of Central California generally, and to keep in touch with progress and improvements. It is a place to show other people what you have done, and to find out what they have done. Also, it is the traditional occasion, implanted in the whole heritage of our race, for annual good fellowship and rejoicing. It is a custom too old and too good to be given up and too useful to be neglected. Go to the fair, have a good time, do some good, and learn something.

CAN'T DO IT
The directors of the San Francisco Medical Association, aroused by the Eva Swan malpractice case, have instructed their secretary to take steps toward the prosecution of the numerous alleged "doctors" practicing in San Francisco who are known to have no licenses, nor any qualifications on which to procure them. These men are of course all frauds, and are on the fraud-order list of the United States postal department, but they are also in large part engaged in actual criminal practice, and the recent publicity given to these practices is the motive of the effort against them. It is a laudable effort, but we doubt its success. There is plenty of law against practicing medicine without a license, but there is very little sentiment, in or out of courts, to enforce it. Judges, lawyers, jurymen and laymen alike share the medieval superstition that medicine is some kind of magic, of which there are various sects and schools, as there are of religion. There is no such thing in medicine as truth or falsehood, knowledge or ignorance, but only some kind of a mysterious knowledge what drug or treatment will "cure" each of the recognized diseases. Every quack has "cured" a lot of cases, and can prove it. Every legitimate practitioner has found a lot of cases which he could not "cure," and it can be proved against him. Plenty of people have been "cured" by the incantations of Indian medicine men, and by the more modern and refined forms of the same treatment. These facts of course are nothing to the point, but nearly every judge, lawyer and juror thinks they are. Also, nearly all the jurists have the notion that a medical association is some kind of a labor union, and that its only objection to unlicensed practitioners is that they are "scabs." And, while in the trades which can understand their sympathy is all with the union man against the scab, in the trade of medicine it is the other way. You see the relation of the public to the physician is that of employer, and the unreasoning employer always prefers non-union labor. So, for all these foolish and ignorant reasons, the law against unlicensed healing is unpopular, and therefore unenforceable. It is particularly so because in this one case the judge and the lawyers are usually quite as ignorant as the most ideal juror a typical panel can show.

REALLY MEANT IT
Congressman McLaughlin of Los Angeles, who announces himself a "regular" and an old-time stand-patter, but who, as a "regular," accepts the new regularity with the old, added to an announcement of this fact, at a Johnstown dinner in Los Angeles, another and very startling statement. He said: "And now, I can say something tonight that probably would not have been believed had I said it before the primary election was held. I have always been in sympathy with the object for which the Lincoln-Roosevelt League was formed in this country and within the state, and now, at last, we seem to be on the fair road to eliminate forever from the councils of this state the influence of the Southern Pacific railroad. I believe that nothing can be done that will so positively settle that question forever as the election of Hiram Johnson as governor. If there is anything within my power, anything that I can do to assist in carrying out the expression of the will of my party as it was recorded at the primaries, I shall be ready at all times to act."

Strange as it may sound, we have no doubt that Mr. McLaughlin spoke the exact truth, and that he expressed a well-founded conviction to many thousands of his "regular" "regular" faction. These men are not cowards. They are not the stuff that martyrs might be made of. They accept things as they find them, and follow the line of least resistance. They seek advancement where advancement is to be had, and follow the leaders who happen to be in power. And so, being Republicans by interest at least, and perhaps even in principle, they have followed the "organization" of the party, just because they found it in possession, and have accepted the domination of that organization by the political boss of the Southern Pacific, not because they believe that organization was right, but merely because it seemed so, and it was powerful, and they did not regard it as their business to risk anything in a fight to undo it. Then, when the Lincoln-Roosevelt League started the fight, they doubted the possibility of success. They thought, "If we go through with this, we are going to get it. But, now that we are not, they are glad it is done, and they accept the result, not merely with the resignation of 'good losers,' but with actual gratification. They would not have done it, but they are glad it is done."

done, and they accept the result, not merely with the resignation of "good losers," but with actual gratification. They would not have done it, but they are glad it is done.

This is at bottom, the reason why this reform movement has united rather than divided the party. Its active supporters were a faction (though a majority faction) of the party, but it turns out that its tacit supporters were nearly all the rest, so, without acrimony or disquiet, except on the part of the deposed leaders and the interest they represented, the rank and file of the party marched not merely in good discipline, but in loyal enthusiasm, under the new banner. It is the sort of harmony which a victory for right and courage can produce. A victory for wrong or timidity attains at most an artificial and grudging harmony, and frequently none at all.

CAN GO ANYWHERE
The record of Wymamal, the aviator, at Moulton, France, the other day, when he rose in an aeroplane to a height of 9121 feet, and then, his motor freezing, planned down to the ground in safety, establishes the fact that the aeroplane, even in its present imperfect form, can go anywhere a man can drive it. Wymamal was nearly frozen and quite exhausted when he reached the ground. He had attained the limit of human endurance. But his machine had made the trip, and evidently, with a non-freezing alcohol motor, could have gone as much further as a human being could have driven it. The aeroplane is not yet reliable. A man may get killed with it going around the best equipped aerodrome. But it is efficient. Within the limit of human alertness and human endurance, it can go anywhere. What it needs is to be made more reliable and more automatic. And it is already more reliable than the automobile was at the same stage of its development. These extremely high flights in aeroplanes are of course only useful as tests. Except for scaling some otherwise impassable mountain range, an aeroplane will never need for practical purposes to fly so high; and even for mountain exploration, small dirigible balloons can probably be constructed which are much better. Certainly for meteorological explorations of the upper atmosphere, balloons will always be preferred. Balloons have already gone higher than any man can live. The advantage of the aeroplane will be its great speed, horizontally. That speed, evidently, is going to outstrip every other means of human conveyance. These perilous toys of the present are going to be our swiftest servants, soon. It is worth risking some lives, in sport, to find out how to make them useful.

The I. W. W. member who, beating his way to Fresno to join the crusade, stopped in Fowler to do a little burglary on the side and got shot, may illustrate a situation which will threaten the threatened invasion. Men desirous of breaking into jail usually succeed. These men, headed for Fresno with the announced purpose of getting into jail, may have their wish realized in other jails, before they reach here.

WAS THROWN OVER SURREY DASHBOARD
Little Barbara Rowell Fortunately Only Sustained Severe Bruises.

Little Barbara Rowell, the 3-year-old daughter of Chester H. Rowell narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock as the result of a collision at K and Fresno streets. Mr. Rowell was driving down K street and to avoid a collision with a car, checked his horse quickly. The shock of the sudden stop threw the little girl, who was sitting on the front seat, over the dashboard, between the wheels. One wheel of the surrey passed over her head and face. By a fortunate chance, she suffered only some severe bruises, which were attended to by Dr. Walker. Mrs. Rowell was almost paralyzed by the shock. Mr. Rowell cancelled his trip to Sacramento on account of the accident.

STOLEN AUTO IS FOUND IN FRESNO

An auto belonging to John Ross of Riverside, Calif., which was stolen some time ago from that city, was found in Fresno yesterday by William Hultsen, a member of the Riverside police force. Hultsen is now on the trail of the auto thief and expects to find him before he returns to the south. Hultsen arrived in Fresno from Riverside yesterday.

DYNAMITE EXPERTS BUSY

Angeleno Times on the morning of October 1, 1910.
(Signed.) "GEORGE ALEXANDER, Mayor."

BODIES UNRECOGNIZABLE
The body of Wesley Weaver, secretary to Harry Chandler, is the only one so far recovered that has been identified. Identity in his case was established more by the situation in which he was found and the surrounding circumstances than by any indications of evidence upon the body itself. It was burned into fragments, as were the four other bodies taken out today. One of the bodies is supposed to be that of Howard Cordway, a young stenographer who was caught with many of the other victims on the staircase near the front of the building, where the great wall of flame entrapped Chandler's secretary. Weaver's body was found lying beside the warped frame of a typewriter and the remains of his chair, which had been in the cellar under what once had been the general manager's office.

DYNAMITE EXPERTS.
The request will be held Tuesday. At that time the committee of dynamite experts and engineers appointed by Chief of Police Gallagher to investigate the cause of the explosion will report their findings. If they have any. Little in the way of evidence that might lead to the discovery of the perpetrators has been found so far. However, Detective Superintendent J. F. Zeeland, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, where an infernal machine was found, but nothing tangible has been discovered.

REMARKABLE ESCAPES.
Remarkable escapes were also reported by Mark Bentley, chief pressman of the Times, and his assistants. Bentley and his men were making ready to run off a section of the Sunday paper when the explosion occurred. The building and the floors overhead broke and fell. The press room immediately was filled by a stifling cloud of smoke and dust. Walls of flames blocked the doorways and ventilators. Bentley said today it seemed as if he and his men were doomed to die there in the basement when one of the men remembered that a hole had been cut in the sidewalk for some temporary purpose. The pressmen made a rush for this means of escape. Bentley, it is reported, rolled waves of smoke which blinded and almost suffocated them, and one by one they crawled to safety. Less than ten feet away, in the hallway of the burning building, their less fortunate comrades of the Times were dying in the swirl of flames.

Most of those who escaped by other exits than jumping from windows, were only slightly injured. Several appeared today at the office of the Times to receive the congratulations of fellow members of the staff. Two or three were well enough to return to work. Charles Lovelace, suburban news editor, who was one of the few with Harvey Elder, Harry Crane and R. L. Sawyer in the editorial room at the time of the explosion, probably will be confined to a hospital bed for many months. He was fearfully burned, and while his condition was reported today to be still serious, it is expected that he will recover.

SAN DIEGO PRINTERS.
SAN DIEGO, Oct. 5.—Members of San Diego Typographical Union No. 221, at their meeting this afternoon, adopted these resolutions, which say: "Knowing that the Nation today is filled with horror at the recent calamity which has befallen the workers on the Los Angeles Times, and realizing also that the responsibility for such accident or crime, whichever it may be, is laid at the door of union labor generally, because the Times management is bitterly opposed to the principles which are so dear to the hearts of every good union labor man."

BRIEF EDITORIAL FANCIES SELECTED

Franklin Hichborn

Members of the legislature who objected to the presence of Franklin Hichborn at the session exhibited a narrow-minded prejudice that proved their unfitness for holding a position in the body.

The objection strikes at more than Hichborn—at all of the representatives of the press or those who go to the sessions for the purpose of observing and publishing to the people the results of their observations.

The members of the legislature are public servants. It is possible at times that their motives are misinterpreted and their honesty of purpose impugned, but not often and seldom from a source which will cause the members any lasting injury. Honest criticism, even attack and censure, must be expected by the public servant. It is in the spirit that it is meant there is a room for suspicion that the censure is deserved, the criticism merited.

At every session of the legislature there has been sometimes one and sometimes more members who have become embroiled with the press in regard to the manner in which the news is handled and the part of the various members mentioned.

But the newspaper will hardly be deterred by anything any legislator may do or say from doing their duty as the critics of the profession demands that they should do.—Eugene Star.

FEDERAL EXPERT HAS RETURNED

G. W. Mann, one of the Federal experts engaged in experiments in fireproofing methods, returned at the Hughes Hotel yesterday on his return from a trip to Watsonville and Los Angeles. The experiments are progressing well, he stated.

"No definite results can be announced as yet," said he, "in regard to the experiments which we have been carrying on since August 1st."

"The experiments will continue for the remainder of the crisp shipping season. We will be able to give you definite information in a short while."

we, as union laboring men, members of an honorable profession, and proud of it, to be honorable men, wish to reaffirm what has often been stated in the past:

"That we are unalterably opposed to any violent or dishonorable act against the enemies of organized labor. We are absolutely certain in our own minds that the alleged crime in Los Angeles was not committed with the knowledge or sanction of any union, their officials or any good union man in his right mind."

CONDEMN GILLET.
The resolutions deplore the crime and add:

"We denounce Governor Gillett for his published statement that union labor stands guilty of this act until it proves itself innocent. We have always believed it was a man's constitutional right to be considered innocent until he was proven guilty."

Legend of the Opal
October's Birthstone

A sunbeam lingered under a leaf in the forest at sunset, until the moon suddenly rose. Enraptured with the shimmering beauty of a moonbeam, he stood entranced. In ecstasy they met, embraced and kissed, while the sun sank and left him in her arms.

The opal is the child of their love. In its fair face is forever mingled the silver of the rising moon and the golden glory of the sunset.

Oh, You Sapolin Furniture Polish!

Speaking about gravy oozing out of roasted meat to a hungry man, reminds me of our Sapolin Furniture Polish. I do not recommend this polish for a salad oil, a hair tonic, lard or an axle grease to grease baby buggies with, but if you want a polish to renovate your old furniture and transform same so that you will not recognize it, my advice to you is to try it. Why, one of my patrons grew a large moustache by accidentally getting a little of this polish on his upper lip while chasing gnats that were hibernating among his old furniture. I do not recommend it for the growing of moustaches, however, even if this party claims that it caused his hirsute appendage to grow sixteen inches over night. But I am satisfied that it is an excellent thing to shine up bald heads, walking-sticks, wooden legs, and automobiles outside of the regular household furniture. Try a bottle. But be sure to use it externally, not internally. If taken internally it will work like an article did on a friend of mine who took Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair dope inwardly. He grew whiskers on his tongue, and the hair on his head ducked and vacated his cranium, looking for the hair-growing juice on the inside. So be careful. Do not get up in the middle of the night and mistake my furniture polish for olive oil and take a dose, unless you want to grow hair on your teeth, or on the roof of your mouth.

Remember us when you are in the market for furniture. We advise all couples figuring on matrimony to let us figure with them and start them off right. Our stock of house furnishings encourages early home-coming.

HAY IN FIELD IS WELL CLEARED UP

For That Reason There Is a Little Firmer Tone in Market Prices.

Arrivals of hay on the San Francisco market for the past week have been 6000 tons, the same quantity as received for the preceding week. While there has not been any change in price to speak of, there is a little firmer tone to the market on account of the fact that the hay is being pretty generally cleared up from the fields and the knowledge that hay will have to be taken from the warehouses shortly to supply the current demand.

The market report of Scott, Wagner & Scott further notes that the medium and poorer qualities of hay are as dull and slow to move as they have been. It is in the higher types of hay that we find the market a little firmer, and on fancy hay, of which variety there has been very little offering, there is considerable inquiry.
Not much purchasing is being done in warehouses in the country, as the prices that are being generally asked are above the basis of the San Francisco market and no satisfactory trading can therefore be done at the moment.

There has been some hay steadily sent forward for coast shipments and for export, but trade in the city has not been as active.

There is a great deal of alfalfa hay coming in, but the market on this article remains steady at quotations, and the heavy arrivals are being readily taken care of for shipping purposes to the North, and for general trade, which is active on this article.
The demand for straw is very quiet and the market equally so.

WHITESIDE COMES WITH A PLAY
NEW TO FRESNO THEATER PATRONS

Florence Fisher in "The Melting Pot."

This morning at the Barton box office will open the sale of seats for Walter Whiteside's appearance next Friday night in Ziegfeld's "The Melting Pot."

There are several reasons why this star and play should be welcomed. In the first place, the play has been enthusiastically endorsed by a really wonderful array of prominent people among them Theodore Roosevelt, Jacob Schiff, Oscar Straus, Brand Whitlock, the famous mayor of Toledo, Jane Addams, Hoeh Tarkington, Hamlin Garland and Hugues Thomas, to say nothing of a hundred others, clergymen, writers and men of affairs.

Secondly, Collier's Weekly assures us that "one comes from it a better patriot, a better citizen of the world, a kinder and more hopeful being." In the two seasons it has been playing, "The Melting Pot" has gathered a finer collection of favorable criticism than any other play of recent years.

Thirdly, it has been a popular success.
It ran for 160 performances in Chicago, the best record ever attained for a serious play in that city, and it opened the new Comedy theater on Labor Day of last year, remaining there for many months.

Finally, Mr. Whiteside is said to be a superb actor, and his support is noble.
Lieber and Company will produce the play and Hugh Ford has staged it.

DRILLING OPERATIONS
IN EAST MIDWAY

Pyramid Is Deeper Than the Honolulu, Working to West of It.

Interest in the East Midway district is centering around the drilling operations of the Pyramid Oil Company, on section 15-22-25. The company is operating 1600 acres in this vicinity.
It has its first well on this ground down to a depth of something over 800 feet, in a hard shell with a considerable flow of gas. According to Superintendent Hock this shows that the Pyramid is deeper on the formation than the Honolulu Consolidated, which is drilling on sections 10, 12 and 21-22-24 to the west, indicating shallower depth than it has been found in this vicinity.

The bringing in of a well by the Pyramid on this 1600 acre tract will place the company among the large-est oil enterprises of the state. In all, the company is operating approximately 1800 acres, having holdings in Santa Paula, North Midway's gusher territory, and Kern River.

Considering this company's holdings, it is modestly capitalized, being incorporated for one million shares of a par value of $1 per share, with a little more than 800,000 issued.

LECTURE AND MUSIC
AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Rev. Clayton Places Milton
as Third Poet; Mohammed Next Sunday.

Exceptionally meritorious music and an interesting discussion of John Milton and "Paradise Lost" by Rev.
Thomas Clayton marked last evening the first of a series of lectures and musical programs for the public which will be furnished at the Unitarian church, corner of O and Tulumne streets.

The music was furnished by Mrs.
Rosamund Davies, Miss Lillian James, and Miss Kate Jenner, and included violin, piano and vocal selections, the musicians displaying a creditable versatility and genuine ability.

Mrs. Davies opened the program with a prelude by Ferber. Rev. Clayton then furnished two readings from "Paradise Lost" and quoted eclogues of Milton, pronounced by several of the most distinguished men of letters who have lived since the time of the great Puritan poet.

Mrs. Davies and Miss James, accompanied by Miss Jenner at the piano, rendered very acceptably R. Scholz's
"Dance Bohemian."

Rev. Clayton's lecture on Milton and his masterpiece was interesting through its originality. He took the ground that Milton's age produced the man. Conceding that he was one of the greatest poets of all time, he yet insisted that he was influenced by the atmosphere of the period of the Reformation in England. He characterized Milton as "a Republican, a revolutionist, and a rebel down to his shoes." At another point he declared:
"Milton and Paradise Lost would have been impossible in this age."

Pointing out that the Devil is the hero of the piece, the minister declared that Milton portrayed "a splendid Devil."
As reasons why Milton is little read now, he ascribed the changes in theology and eschatology since the poet's time; a tendency now not to read things religious, and a prejudice against "fantastic" things, not to mention that Milton is a scholar's poet.

After presenting a brief sketch of the nature and contents of the poem, the speaker ascribed to Milton the third rank among the poets of all time, placing Homer first and Shakespeare second.

A count of hands showed that not a corporal's guard of his auditors had ever read "Paradise Lost" through.

Rev. Clayton announced that next Sunday he will speak on Mohammed and Modern Islam. He stated that he is an admirer of Mohammed, whom he characterized as one of the misrepresented men of history.

Dr. Chester Rowell, in a few words, outlined the aim of the church to be a home of music and culture as well as to perform its religious function.
As a closing musical number, Miss James sang "Love's Sorrow," by Harry Shelley.

The first thing to consider when purchasing a suit of clothes is whether or not, it's going to dress you in the style that you prefer. Therefore you must seek a clothier who caters to your class and who has an assortment of clothes that permits a liberal selection. When you come here you are not held down to the selecting of one or two makes or styles. You are offered a range broad enough to permit you to select every modern style and material that the markets produce. This is a store for the masses as well as the classes.

Full dress suits are a feature here. The most carefully tailored dress suits await you here. Made from the finest materials and possessing individual features found only in clothes of the very highest grades.

When you seek a suit for evening wear and if you wish something that will dress you correctly, no matter how formal the affair will be, you will do well to come to us.

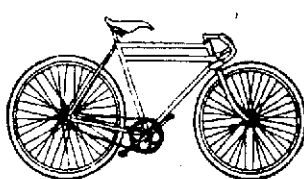

Our showing of Fall

Latest News of the Oil Fields

OIL COMPANY STARTS OPERATIONS IN WEST MONTEREY FIELD

Derrick Is Built and Drilling Will Soon Be Started.

Bakersfield and Bradley Men Are Financing New Corporation.

COALINGA, Oct. 1.—The Forest Oil company, recently organized to explore the west Monterey oilfields, has commenced operations on the old Kavanaugh place, about seven miles west of Bakersfield. A derrick has already been constructed and drilling with a standard rig will be commenced very soon, under the supervision of James Seely, a man who for a number of years has been interested in oil exploration in this county. Associated with Mr. Seely in the new company are a number of Bakersfield capitalists. Stock in the company is also held by a number of Bradley people and residents of the neighborhood. Mr. Seely some time ago resumed operations with a Keystone rig on the old Kavanaugh well on his own account. He was unsuccessful in striking oil, but he learned enough to convince him that oil can be found in the neighborhood, so he organized the Forest oil company and will sink a new well with a standard rig. The surface indications indicate that oil in paying quantities can be found in the west Monterey fields and he is confident of striking it. The Bakersfield capitalists and the people of Bradley share his confidence.

ASSOCIATED DEAL WITH AGENCY IS REPORTED CLOSED

An unconfirmed report was received in this city Saturday to the effect that the Associated Oil Company and the Independent Producers' Agency had at last consummated the big deal which has been under consideration for some time, whereby the Associated is to buy oil in the future from the Agency.

It was further stated that this report came from parties who are in a position to know what is taking place. The report came from Los Angeles.

SETTING ASIDE TITLE OF RAILROAD TO ITS OIL LANDS

A Letter by Attorney Short Pointing Out What the Result Will Be.

If Suit Is Brought to What Extremity Will It Be Pressed?

Frank H. Short has written an open letter to Charles P. Fox, the editor of the California Oil World, published at Bakersfield, on the subject of setting aside the title of the Southern Pacific railroad to oil lands in this state. Mr. Short says he holds no brief for the railroad company, and his reason for writing is to call attention to certain things "to the end that the matter may be fairly understood in all its bearings before we start in" and that "we shall be prepared to accept the legal results of our own actions."

The text of the open letter follows: Mr. Charles P. Fox, Editor "California Oil World," Bakersfield, Cal.

My Dear Sir: In my judgment a situation has arisen in connection with the oil industry in California that requires to be definitely understood in all its bearings before it is acted upon, and then, if it is acted upon, we should be prepared to accept complete legal and logical results. I refer to the proposition recently enunciated to the effect that the United States government shall be requested to institute an action or actions for the purpose of setting aside the title of the Southern Pacific Company to the oil lands in California.

I hold no brief for the Southern Pacific Company, and in writing this communication only to the end that the matter may be fairly understood in all its bearings before we start in, and that we shall be prepared to accept the legal results of our own actions.

While I hold no brief for the Southern Pacific Company, I seem to have recently fallen heir to a general brief to puncture balloons, or what appear to me to be such, and while these few remarks will probably be unpopular in the sense that they may indirectly work to the advantage of the railroad company, I have grown entirely indifferent to these matters, and am endeavoring on all questions whereon I am required to speak, to speak my mind exactly as the matter appears to me.

I do, however, represent a very considerable number of local corporations and oil men engaged in the oil industry in California, and the situation that I wish to set forth is as follows:

The objection to the title of the Southern Pacific Company rests upon a reservation clause contained in the patents, referring, as it is claimed, to all minerals known or afterwards discovered or ascertained to exist within the patented tract, and it is

MEPHISTO OFFICERS TENDER RESIGNATIONS

Following declarations made recently to the effect that the Megadon Oil Company, in the Devil's Den District, was not adjoining a 2000 barrel well and that the well itself was never a commercial producer, the affairs of the company have become more or less tangled, notwithstanding the fact that J. Bliss Dudley, president of the company, is at present in Coalinga in the interests of the property. J. W. Brunton and H. E. Hales of Los Angeles, secretary and treasurer of the company, have tendered their resignations.

The New York Curb, through whose columns the Megadon was advertised, staunchly supported the company when aspersions were cast, but now this paper has taken a turn and in a letter to a local party, the management of the paper announces that it is investigating the company's affairs and that it is evidently something behind this talk concerning the company.

It is assumed that this reservation includes oil.

If this contention is correct in its entirety, and if the patents can be set aside there can be no innocent purchasers or lessees of these lands, because the title either did pass or did not pass, and if it did not pass, then neither the railroad company nor its grantees nor lessees could ever become vested with these minerals or oils. I personally know of an indefinite number of California corporations and individuals who have purchased railroad lands and expended millions of dollars in their development for the production of oil, and have produced in many instances and sold great quantities of oil therefrom. I also know personally of perhaps even a larger number who have taken leases and have made like expenditures and have produced and are engaged in the production of oil under these leases.

If the title of the railroad company is set aside and falls, then the title of all these purchasers and lessees necessarily falls, and in the inevitable course of the law, if the law is to be enforced, all of these titles and leases will revert to the government and with them the improvements and expenditures made thereon for oil purposes.

Not only is this true, but if the minerals and oils never passed, then every corporation or individual who has extracted any oil from the ground has done it unlawfully, and unlawfully converted it to his own use, and is liable to the United States government for the value of the oil in conversion. As the Statute of Limitations does not run against the government, it could bring the actions at any time, and could pursue the oil into the hands of and recover from any purchaser.

Therefore, unless we are to assume that the government is to pursue its actions only for a certain distance, and then forego pursuing its rights to its property and the oil extracted therefrom into the hands of others, we will, if this program is carried out, have the most extensive collection of bankrupt corporations and oil operators that has ever been known in this country in any line of business. Perhaps I ought to add that while I have not studied the legal question involved as to the title of the railroad company under the patents, that I recall, in a general way, that it has been decided in other instances that where the railroad company, or other entrymen on the public lands become entitled to a patent, and where it was the duty of the executive branch of the government, before issuing the patents, to determine its character, that in substitution for this determination, the Interior Department could not insert a reservation clause of this character, and that when the patent issues the title passed and such reservation clause, being unauthorized in the granting act was void, and I therefore have the impression, which is, however, not a legal opinion, that the railroad company and the investors and lessees under it will not be required to forfeit their property, or supposed property, under this clause.

There is a further consideration apparently not thought of that while oil lands, by express statute, are subject to entry under the placer mining laws, there is no settled rule or settled line of decisions that they are minerals at all, and even this basic question would, as I understand the situation, be open for decision. In a certain sense it may be a matter of regret that such vast quantities of wealth, unknown to exist at the time, have been transferred in grants of lands of supposedly little value, but this would relate to the question of the advisability of such grants, and not to their construction thereafter.

It is, of course, perfectly well understood that at the time these patents were obtained, and for many years thereafter, these lands were not known or supposed to contain oil. This fact is demonstrated by the fact that the railroad company kept them on sale for many years at $2.50 per acre, and actually sold a considerable portion of them at that price, and would doubtless have disposed of all of them, or nearly so, if they had not been popularly supposed to be nearly valueless. We might charge the railroad company with many things, but we could never charge it with being guilty of the policy of putting on sale and disposing of lands at $2.50 an acre that were worth from $2500 to $5000 an acre for their oil value.

Whatever the faults of the railroad company may have been, it has never as yet been accused of anything of this kind.

I have written this letter merely to the end that the people of California may look up and understand this matter as it is, and while many of my friends and associates would be involved in the ultimate outcome of such a procedure, I have never stood in opposition to the doctrine of the enforcement of the law, and if it is thought wise to institute the institution of this proceeding, I shall meet it as a legal question and as a legal question only, but I think it is our first duty to frankly understand our position before we start in at all.

I shall be surprised if efforts are not made to distinguish and to show how the proceeding ought to be or can be prosecuted against merely one person and not against others, but if it appears to me in advance that all such actions are disingenuous, and that we must either face the situation as an entirety and proceed along broad lines, accepting the full results of our attitude, or else entirely withdraw therefrom.

Very truly yours,
FRANK H. SHORT.

OIL BUSINESS OF STATE EXTENDS AND EXPANDS EVERY DAY

Significant Events Detailed Forecasting Future of Industry.

It Is Not for Today Nor Tomorrow, But for a Century.

In the Oil Book, published in San Francisco under date of today, is an interesting article by W. H. Clayton detailing significant events forecasting a future of great promise for California's oil industry. Says the writer:

To all who are looking into the future of the oil business, especially from an investment standpoint, there are many indications filled with great promise. The past ten years have seen wonderful prosperity, accompanied by periods of adversity. But with a not divided record of over $10,000,000 in the best indication of the stability of the industry and its profitability.

Without a market for the consumption of oil, there would be no profit in its production. With a bigger market than the supply can fill, it will readily be seen that the prices will add materially to profits. The producers are getting their share of the profits that come to those who handle oil in its every form, either in the crude state or in the finished product.

Wherever, therefore, there has been a sudden increase in production, interest parties have stated the cry of over-production. The apparent over-production has invariably disappeared in short order, even as the mists are cleared away by the sunshine. Prices have had an advancing tendency for the past four years, and last year, the largest productive one in the history of the business, saw the highest price paid for oil at the well. Why was this? Because the ultimate consumer saw that California would be able to supply him with oil for fuel for an indefinite time, assuring him of the advisability of changing his fuel from coal to oil.

That the future of the oil business is assured in its every form is evidenced by several significant circumstances that have lately occurred.

The announcement is unofficially made that the navies of the United States and England will soon adopt the use of oil instead of coal for fuel. Other nations will follow. This means a market for an enormous quantity of oil each year. California has shown the world that it has the oil and the world is responding by turning to oil for fuel, not only because it is cheaper than coal, but because it is vastly better even if it cost more than coal. The principal reason for the change is because oil can be obtained. Until within the past year oil could not be secured by these large consumers.

Probably the most significant event is the fact that Admiral Evans has seen fit to enter the oil producing business on a large scale. The admiral is accounted a keen man with an eye for business, with an eye to the future, and the admiral sees great things ahead for the oil industry of California.

The Union Oil Company, of California, is about to issue $25,000,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of drilling 1000 or more wells, and it can safely be assumed that these wells will be started upon receipt of the first money from the issue.

The Associated is calling upon all its members for the delivery of the maximum amount of oil, and the Standard is reported even now to be reducing instead of increasing its storage.

The United States government has never, until recently, given much consideration to its oil, yet under government control, but at this day the question of disposal of these lands is one of the big ones of the present administration.

Investors should get wise to the situation; to the great, really great, importance of the oil business and its bearing on the future. By so doing one is sure to make handsome profits. The oil business is not for today or tomorrow, but it is for the next decades, the next twenty years; the coming century.

Just put yourself in the position of the man who squatted on the prairie a few years ahead of Jim Hill's Great Northern railroad. This was a man of great vision. He traveled with his family to a remote location miles away from human habitation. He did it quietly, in looking over the country through which the road was to pass, Jim Hill encountered this man and asked him why he settled so far from civilization. The Swede's reply was, "I thought Jim Hill would build a railroad through here and my land would be valuable."

If any one doubts the oil industry has reached its limit of development; that the product has by no means fulfilled its ultimate destiny in the accomplishment of revolution in industries and general affairs, he is mistaken. The business is extending and expanding every day and the years to come will prove the truth of this forecast.

Up to within the past three or four years the oil industry of California was regarded largely as a purely local affair. It has now developed into one of international importance. It has passed the boundaries prescribed by its early votaries. It is interesting the governments of the nations of the world and it is likewise interesting those who have money to invest in an industry of such great importance.

COALINGA, Oct. 1.—The work on the excavation for the big 500,000 gallon water reservoir at the Santa Rosa Oil and Development company, formerly the Great Western, is progressing rapidly. The work so far has been very difficult, as all the earth being excavated had to be blasted.

Surveyor C. C. Van Valkenburgh, who is contracting the job, stated today that already 1000 yards of the approximately 4000 yards of dirt to be removed had been excavated and that by the end of next week the men would be working on the laying of the concrete in which the reservoir is to be completed.

Already the 10-inch lead lines running from the reservoir have been placed so that as soon as the concrete work is finished and thoroughly set the water can be run in from the well ready for delivery to the companies in that section of the field. The supply of water from the reservoir is to be used by the many companies for boiler purposes, for which it is especially adapted, as it has proven to be free from substance that causes boiler scale. The water will be a great asset to the Santa Rosa company.

GOV. GILLET WILL NAME REPRESENTATIVES TO GO TO BRAZIL

Fresno Chamber Too Late in Naming Mr. Frisselle as a Delegate.

Dr. Dahne Will Take Local Fruit Packers to Teach the Brazilians.

A peculiar situation has arisen in regard to the representation of Fresno in a delegation from California to go to Brazil. Several months ago Dr. Eugene Dahne, special commissioner of commerce and industry to the United States, invited the Chamber of Commerce to select some one to make the trip to Brazil with a score or so of delegates from other parts of the country. No response was received by him in regard to the matter. Dr. Dahne has been traveling much in the last few days and did not hear of the chamber's action last Wednesday.

The chamber of commerce at its meeting last Wednesday recommended R. Frisselle of Kearney Park to be a member of the visiting commission from the United States, if the selection were approved by Dr. Dahne and the other officials concerned.

In the meantime, Dr. Dahne, becoming anxious on account of the lateness of the date, as the commission will sail from New York November 19th, placed the selection of the commissioners from this state in the hands of Governor Gillett, and the matter is now out of his hands.

"It is too bad," remarked Dr. Dahne, who is at the Sequoia after his return from San Francisco, "but something had to be done. I was surprised by not having received at least an answer to my first note, some four months ago. I inferred that perhaps the chamber of commerce was not so very interested in the matter after all. The matter is now in the hands of Governor Gillett. He has accepted the task of selecting commissioners who will represent the state with proper dignity, and will announce his selections later. I understand that the commissioners will represent the state as a whole. I understand that among the number may be Admiral Evans and General Chaffee."

Governor Gillett accepted the task of selecting the California commissioners at a luncheon in the grill room of the Palace at San Francisco, when he and Dr. Dahne lunched with the directors of the Panama exposition last week. Dr. Dahne did not hear of the chamber's action until yesterday.

It is hoped that the commission from California will result in a better understanding between the two countries. The commissioners from this country will be empowered to extend to the Brazilian government an invitation to send a similar commission to this country, and in this way there will be created a stronger bond of interest, resulting probably in an augmented trade between the United States and the republic of Brazil. The invitation will be given to President Figueira, who will assume the duties of the executive head of Brazil next month. The leaves of Brazil will prevent his leaving the country, but it is hoped that Dr. Dahne, the retiring president, will be able to come to the United States.

Only California and St. Louis will be represented in the commission. There will be twenty commissioners, who will be divided between this state and the Missouri city. Many eastern men of prominence will be in the St. Louis delegation.

An interesting feature of the expedition will be one aside from the official functions of the commissioners. Dr. Dahne has arranged for two practical men in the fruit industry here to go to Brazil on the same ship in order that Brazil may be taught the fruit industry along the lines followed in the California industry. Frank R. Brainard, local superintendent for the J. K. Armistead company, and John I. Pimental, who also will not act as interpreter when necessary will go. They will go on a salary basis on a year's contract.

Brazil is said to produce every variety of fruit known in this state, excepting apples, and in addition many tropical fruits not known in commercial quantities in California. These fruits in some instances grow wild, and no attempt has been made to develop the fruit industry. By engaging in fruit shipping on the California scale it is hoped that an extensive trade may be arranged between that country and the United States.

Dr. Dahne will leave today for Los Angeles. He will return to Fresno November first and will remain here until the 10th, when the California party will leave for New York, via St. Louis, to sail on the 19th for Brazil.

VALLEY ICE COMPANY BLAMED FOR ACCIDENT

A Jury Holds It Responsible for Electrocution of E. M. Pollard.

That the Valley Ice Company, because of neglect to suspend work until all danger had been removed, was responsible for the death of E. M. Pollard, who was electrocuted last Saturday, was the verdict of the coroner's jury at the inquest held over the remains yesterday. The verdict read:

"We, the undersigned, find that the deceased came to his death from accidentally coming in contact with a wire of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company while at work in the Valley Ice Company's plant near Fresno."

"We find that the accident was due to the neglect of the Valley Ice Company to suspend work at the point of danger until the cause of danger had been removed."

According to the testimony given at the inquest the Valley Ice Company had some time ago ordered certain poles and lines near its plant removed, and the power company had agreed to remove them. Superintendent E. J. Crawford went to the ice plant on Saturday and informed the management that he was ready to remove the poles and wires. The ice company officials informed him that they did not want them removed then, as they were short on ice. Pollard was electrocuted in contact with these wires not long after.

ADVANCE GUARD OF THE DANISH BROTHERHOOD IS WELCOMED

Two Hundred Delegates and Friends Arrive in a Special Train.

Grand Officers Come Today to Open the Convention at Armory Hall.

Yesterday, between 200 and 300 delegates and visitors arrived in Fresno to attend the Danish Brotherhood national convention, which opens at Armory hall at 10 o'clock this morning. When a short reception will be held for the guests of the local Danish, and an address of welcome in behalf of the city will be delivered by Mayor Chester Bowell. More visitors are expected today, running the total up to about 500, and making this invasion of Danish people from all over the United States one of the most important features of the week which promises to be memorable in Fresno.

The coast delegation, about 200 strong, arrived on a special from San Francisco at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, about an hour earlier than expected. They were met by delegates on this train, the other eight, being their wives, families and friends.

This morning at 8 o'clock, a special bearing Grand President H. H. Vogt of Liverpool, Iowa, and the grand officers and the bulk of delegates from the East will arrive on the Southern Pacific. The total number of delegates will be 250, and probably as many visitors will not officially connected with the convention will be here.

The train will be met this morning by prominent local members of the order and prominent persons generally, including Mayor Bowell, and there will be a procession to Armory Hall, where the convention will be held.

There was no official reception to the delegates who arrived yesterday, though automobiles met them at the train, and they found committees waiting at the headquarters in A. O. U. W. hall to find them rooms and other accommodations.

The last band concert in court house park for this season, however, had been postponed until yesterday, especially for the benefit of the visitors, and many attended it. The concert was held from 5 to 7 o'clock in the evening. At the same time, as soon as darkness fell, the court house dome was illuminated. During the musical program, a welcome march, especially composed by Grand Pukenstein, was rendered, and a Danish air vied with the "Star Spangled Banner" in the finale.

During the afternoon, the Danish hall of this city held a reception in the A. O. U. W. hall to visiting ladies with the delegations.

The delegates found the city draped in bunting, with the Danish flag and the Stars and Stripes predominating. So elaborate were the decorations in places that the visitors mistook buildings after building for their headquarters.

The convention will be in session here for an entire week. Automobile trips, smoker, dances and dinners fill out a program that is expected to prove most enjoyable. So far as its importance to Fresno is concerned, this is considered one of the most important conventions ever held in this city, bringing, as it does, visitors belonging to one of the best classes in America, from all parts of the country to see the advantages and opportunities this section of California affords. Facilities for this being being furnished by the fact that the Fresno Fair is holding forth this week.

CHOLERA MAY HELP OUT THE SITUATION IN RAISINS NOW

Brokers Believe a Spread of Epidemic May Stop Europe's Shipping.

Rain in Spain Severe and Damage to Crop There Very Heavy.

That the Asiatic cholera epidemic in Southern Europe, principally Italy, will possibly have an effect on the local raisin situation, through the curtailing of shipments of all goods to this country is the opinion advanced by James H. Baker and Company, brokers of Chicago, in a letter received yesterday.

The letter also touches on the reduction of the Spanish raisin crop, and other features throughout the East and Europe having a bearing on the situation. It is as follows: "Supplementing our previous letter of today, we have just received advices from our New York correspondents that the weather in Spain has been very severe and that the raisin crop will be largely reduced. Also that Asiatic cholera is spreading rapidly in some portions of Italy, and if this should further spread to the various Mediterranean ports, it would entirely cut off all shipments of Sultana raisins, currants and figs."

The previous letter referred to, under date of the 28th ult., is as follows: "Confirming our yesterday's wire, the statistical position of the fruit crops, not only the United States and the world, but the light supplies in all Eastern markets, point to an active demand throughout the fall. The jobbers are perfectly willing to carry large stocks of dried fruit if they can be reasonably assured that present prices will be maintained."

"Apricots and prunes are practically out of the market, at least 75 per cent of the peach crop has been marketed; there is nothing left for merchants to trade in, in a large way, excepting in raisins. October and November have always been the best dried fruit months in the year, and we cannot imagine why any packer should endeavor to break the market under such conditions. He simply makes nothing for himself, keeps his competitor from doing business, and the grower from getting prices which he is entitled to under the existing conditions."

"The Eastern jobbers will not buy goods on a dull or declining market, but on an advancing market, they will buy freely."

GIVEN DRUBBING FOR "BUTTING IN"

Claiming that they had been held up and robbed by four Japanese, Fred Ellis of 475 Belmont avenue, and Victor Lindberg of 411 Chestnut street, rushed into police headquarters last Saturday night and related a hair-raising tale. Sergeant Schmitt and a patrolman investigated and learned that the men had engaged in a quarrel with four Japs at G and Kern street, with the result that the sons of Nippon beat the Americans in a free-for-all fight. The police blame Ellis and Lindberg for starting the running. The Japs claimed that the Americans "battered in" and the drubbing was administered to teach them a lesson.

ON EVE OF THE OPENING OF FRESNO FAIR, GROUNDS PRESENT A SCENE OF BUSY EXHIBITORS

All Is in Readiness for Auspicious Day—Teams Hauling Exhibits to Fair Grounds, Where Hundreds of Men Are Installing Them—Balloon Ascension and Motorcycle Races Today.

"Railroad Collision," one of the many features of the big display of fireworks to be given at the Fresno Fair Grounds on Wednesday night.

There were probably twice or three times as many visitors at the Fair grounds yesterday as were ever seen there on any Sunday before the opening of the Fresno County fair. And what they beheld was an eye-opener, for there was hustle and bustle on every side. Secretary Powell and his office force were almost swamped in their work. Entries of every character were made as rapidly as three or four entry clerks could fill out the blanks. The grounds were fairly alive with delivery wagons loaded with the choicest products of the San Joaquin Valley or the finest articles handled by the white-awake business men of Fresno who are not ashamed to exhibit their wares at the Fresno Fair. The main pavilion was tippy-turvy, literally jammed with exhibits of every character.

All the outside towns had forces of men busily engaged in the work of installing their displays, and long before night a pretty good idea could be formed as to what they will look like perfect gems, representing as they do everything from the farm, orchard and garden, and very much more besides. It will certainly be an agreeable surprise to the old-time patrons of the fair when they visit the fair grounds any day this week, and contrast the present splendid array of exhibits with those of the past. Not that the fair is gone by, but it is a credit to Fresno, but simply because this one is so vast, by greater in every department than this occasion will make all previous ones look small indeed.

One will have to be hard to please indeed if the vast array of pet stock, fowls, live stock, implements, pumping plants, products from farm, garden and orchard, works of art, people work, mineral and oil products do not attract his or her fancy. In any nothing of the army of attractions, such as the dirigible balloon, Reckless Blondin in his high wire act, the joy wheel, merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, the smallest roller coaster in the world, glass blowers, Kaufman & Ruckers' animal show.

Thelma, the most beautiful woman in the world, the fire queen, and last though not least the greatest fireworks display ever attempted on the Coast. And this long list does not include

"Happy Jack" and his newly formed organization of cow boys and cow girls, many of whom took part and won prizes at the recent State fair at Sacramento. Nor does it include the splendid program of sports, such as basketball, football, baseball, tennis, and Saturday, football on Saturday, trotting and racing races, running race by some of the fastest horses in the State, special cow boy and cow girl races each day, track races and donkeys, and Happy Jack's big black bull, for which Happy Jack offered $10 in gold to any man who can ride him ten seconds.

Nor does it include the daily program of broncho busting. If this isn't enough to please the most fastidious, then go to the fair grounds and look at the various other features that have not been mentioned, there being at least twenty others, embracing everything in a legitimate line calculated to instruct or to make you laugh.

A car load of fire works arrived yesterday in charge of W. H. Wilson and his corps of assistants. Early today they will begin erecting the frame work for the numerous set pieces for the fireworks.

These are to be in the center field directly opposite the two grand stands, occupying a space of about 1000 feet. This one feature, scheduled for Wednesday night will bring visitors to Fresno from every town in the San Joaquin valley, and many from as far south as Los Angeles, where Mr. Wilson makes his headquarters. The display is beyond description.

By noon today everything will be ship-shape and the Fresno Fair of 1910 will be in full blast. President Warlow, Vice President Dickinson, Directors McDonald, O'Neil, Wilson, Fells and Secretary Powell are working like Trojans, with their corps of assistants determined to make this event the very finest ever seen in the valley—or for that matter in the state. As things looked at the fair grounds yesterday they have already attained their wish, for the preparations indicate that there will be something doing all the time.

As a matter of fact there were enough "big dogs" at the grounds yesterday to have warranted admission prices, the chief happening being the splendid exhibition drill in front of the grand stand by Acacia Circle of Women of Woodcraft. They were frequently loudly applauded by several hundred enthusiastic spectators. They are after the first prize and the team that beats them will have to move very fast. The motorcycle boys were also out in force, putting on the finishing touches to their training for today's big motorcycle races, which promise to be the best ever held in California.

One of the features scheduled for the opening day is a balloon ascension and parachute drop by L. L. Hill of New York. The huge gas bag will ascend at 1 o'clock this afternoon, one hour before the motorcycle speed events are scheduled to begin. A field of five acres has been set aside as Prof. Hill's private quarters and this site has been fenced in. The balloon will be filled within this inclosure and the ascension will be made from there.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, the bird-man will make his initial flight in Fresno in a dirigible balloon.

Prof. Hill announced yesterday that if the weather conditions are favorable, that is, if there is no wind, he will remain in the air for two hours. Hill's dirigible balloon is the largest in the world and he has made hundreds of successful flights. Last week at the Newman Fair, he ascended and floated eight miles, going four miles across the plains and back again to the starting point. The bird-man states that he hopes to make a flight from the Fair grounds into the city, circling around the courthouse dome and returning to the aviation field. Local people have witnessed flights by bi-planes and balloons but never in the history of Fresno has a dirigible been seen in action here.

Commencing today, a band of sixteen pieces, under the leadership of J. W. Tilton, will be in attendance at the fair grounds. During the motorcycle races the band will play in the grandstand.

PACKAGE GARBAGE PLAN PREVENTS BREEDING OF HOUSEFLIES

System Will Be Reported for Adoption to League of Municipalities.

It Favors Cleanliness and Saves Money Spent in Scavenging.

Hogs will be served food in original packages, and cans in the alleys will for once full the fly as free lunch counters and places of breeding. If California cities adopt the package garbage plan which has been tried out in several American and Canadian cities. At least this inference may be gathered from a report on garbage disposal which has been prepared in the office of the State Board of Health at Sacramento.

"A representative of the State Board," it is stated, "has recently investigated the package-garbage system of Minneapolis and reports that aside from favoring cleanliness and preventing fly breeding, the introduction of the plan has saved the city a considerable sum in the expense of garbage disposal." The method has proved so satisfactory in Minneapolis that it will be recommended for approval by the California League of Municipalities, which meets at San Diego, October 18th-19th.

The report to the State Board of Health is in part as follows: "In Minneapolis a city ordinance requires that all refuse capable of decay shall be wrapped in paper before being deposited in garbage cans. The paper wrappings, it is found, prevent refuse from attracting flies, and by doing away with filthy accumulations in the lines of cans, prevent fly breeding. In a cold country there is also the great advantage of preventing the garbage freezing to the can."

"The package-garbage plan has decreased the cost of garbage disposal in Minneapolis. This is because the number of collection trips is reduced one-half from the fact that decay is retarded because of airtightness between the packages, and because the refuse enclosed is comparatively dry. The quantity of garbage which has to be hauled away is also lessened, as people drain into their sinks quantities of the liquid and semi-liquid wastes which are hard to handle, heavy to haul, and which seriously impede the process of incineration."

"The package-garbage plan will not seriously interfere with the food value of refuse that is fed to hogs, as the edible portions are kept in better state of preservation and not saturated with dishwater, or mixed with sweepings, bits of broken glass or other foreign matter. The chances of swine being poisoned by acids, chemicals, and other substances which people carelessly throw out with refuse, are much lessened as the enclosure in packages makes sorting an easy matter. Where poisoning does occur, the only animals lost are the ones that eat from an individual package. When poison gets into a can or wagon load of miscellaneous saturated refuse, there is danger of losing a large number of animals. If the garbage is to be 'cooked' before it is fed, the paper may interfere to some extent, but this will not outweigh the advantages of the plan."

"Minneapolis health authorities have been agreeably surprised to find that the housekeepers take kindly to draining the liquid off of slops where necessary, and wrapping the table refuse in old newspapers or waste wrapping paper kept conveniently by the sink. They find it preferable to scouring greasy slop cans and scrubbing up after the garbage man. They are most impressed because it eliminates the swarming flies and offensive odors within and without the kitchen."

ONLY A ROCKING CHAIR WAS SAVED IN FIRE

Williams Residence on Calisch Street Burned By Lamp Explosion.

An oil lamp explosion in the residence at 354 Calisch street, of Harry W. Williams, former editor of the Labor News, was responsible for a fire that destroyed the house and contents about 1 o'clock last night. The loss is estimated at about $2000, but it was impossible last night to learn whether or not there was any insurance.

When the lamp exploded, the flames spread so quickly that the occupants of the house barely escaped with their lives, leaving no time to save any of the contents. The aged mother of Mr. Williams is blind and was in the house at the time, but was rescued by the other members of the family. Among the effects destroyed was a new piano which had been in the house a few days only. Some difficulty was experienced with the alarm system, but the department made a quick run to the scene notwithstanding. It was impossible, however, to save the house, as it was a mass of flames when the apparatus arrived. So complete was the destruction that the only article saved was a rocking chair.

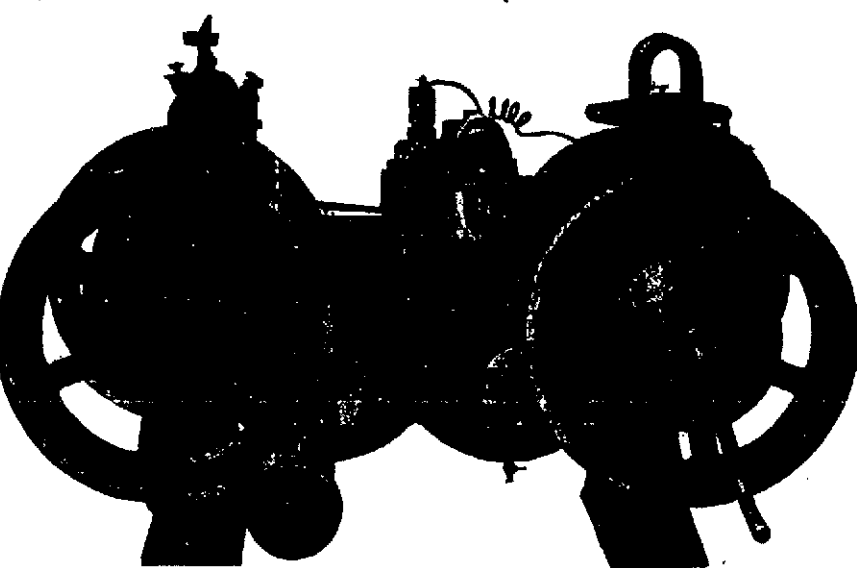

OFF TO EUROPE TO LAND OF HIS BIRTH

Amadeo Sesala of the Universal restaurant left on Saturday morning for Europe to visit once more the scenes of his childhood on the Mediterranean coast in Italy and the southern part of France. He will not return before next January, having declared before departure that it will be the last time that he will visit the land of his birth, because having become an American citizen, in service in the United States navy and Admiral Dewey when the latter was only captain of a corvette, he has resolved to end his days in the land of his adoption. For that reason he will make such an extended stay on the continent.

ARRESTED FOR ENTERING BARN

E. M. Higgins reported to the police yesterday morning that a male hog had been stolen from his barn on the previous night. After a short investigation the stolen hog was found in the barn of R. F. Shook, residing at 158 E street. Shook was placed under arrest on a charge of burglary. The police declare that he admitted the burglary.

Here's the Gas Engine to have, one that has never been beaten. At three fairs in competition with the best of the old style engines, it has always won the first prize.

Awarded Gold Medal California State Fair Sacramento, 1910

This Is a Record to be Proud of ... AND ... Speaks for Itself

The famous Bosch magneto, Schaebler carburetor and multiple sight feed oiler, with bar lever, are part of the regular equipment of Fresno's Non-Vibrating Gas Engine.

The Bosch magneto is well known everywhere as the best.

No carburetor made will give better results than the Schaebler.

Our sight feed oiler with bar lever takes care of the entire engine at once.

With gas engines as with everything else, the best is the cheapest. No better engine is built than this one. It is non-vibrating, consequently can be built much lighter than others, and runs without being bolted down to a concrete or other foundation.

As a result, is the finest portable engine imaginable.

Our Specialty is the complete installation of Pumping Plants

Professional Skill

Is the important consideration in choosing your optometrist. The plain glass used in a pair of lenses has about the same relative value as the wood used in making a rare old violin.

The skill which fits these crude materials to perform their allotted functions is the element of greatest value.

People who have tried the "cheap" ones realize this fact.

We offer you the finest optical service, obtainable, coupled with prices that are right, fair to you and fair to us.

Our guarantee of satisfaction applies to every patron who enters our doors.
